Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

JANUARY 24, 2021

Jonah 3:1-10; 1 Corinthians 7:29-31;
Mark 1:14-20

A common thread in each of today's Scripture readings is: "The time is short!" Therefore, we should change our ways and live for the Lord.

The first reading is from the parable of Jonah. This book of the Bible is an extended parable – a fictional story with a spectacular ending used to teach a religious lesson.

God tells Jonah to go to Nineveh to announce its destruction. Jonah, like all good Jews, hated the monstrous Ninevites; he did not want to warn them; he thought their destruction was good riddance.

He tried to escape aboard a ship; a storm came up; Jonah says that he was the cause. He is thrown overboard, swallowed by a great fish, and for three days has a chance to reconsider going to Nineveh! Our reading takes up from here. Much to Jonah's surprise, when he announces Nineveh's destruction, the pagans repent!

In the second reading, Paul tells the Corinthians that the time is short. Therefore they should live in this world in expectation of the world to come.

Today's Gospel tells a story of the call of the first disciples very different from last Sunday's account. Jesus proclaims that the time of fulfillment is at hand; the reign of God is here; therefore everyone should repent. Very likely the first disciples left their homes and work in expectation that the end was coming.

What are a few short years on earth compared to eternity? In our present attitude, we might consider that the end is far away. But time has a way of speeding by geometric increments! We should live each day as if it is our last. We should always ask ourselves, "How does this word or action fit in with my eternal goal?" The time is short; live for the Lord.

Third Sunday in Ordinary Time, January 24, 2021

Dear Parishioners,

Last weekend, I addressed a concern by our bishop about a custom of blessing people and children who come forward at Holy Communion for a blessing. He would like us to publish his concern and teaching with regard to this custom that he wants to stop considering it a non-liturgical practice. And so the following is his clarification of that teaching without any comment:

1. Normally those who will not receive Holy Communion at a given Mass should not join in the Communion procession. Just as the entrance procession, the gospel procession, and the offertory procession do not include everyone in the congregation, nor does the Communion procession. This procession is for those who will eat and drink the Body and Blood of Christ. However, infants may be carried by their parents and children who have not yet received First Eucharist and may accompany their parents in the Communion procession.
2. Should some who will not receive Holy Communion choose to join in the Communion procession, they present themselves with their arms crossed over their chests and make the same reverence as those who will receive Communion, that is, they stop and make a slight bow of the head both to the Body of Christ and to the Blood of Christ, while passing in procession. If the person pauses in expectation of some response, as a matter of courtesy, he or she should not be ignored or summarily dismissed, but should be assisted in making a spiritual communion. To do so, the priest, deacon, or extraordinary minister of Holy Communion makes a slight bow towards the person and says, "Receive Christ in your heart." Since this is not a blessing, but an invitation to worship, no other gesture accompanies these words and no verbal response is given.
3. No blessing is to be given at this time whether by the priest, deacon or extraordinary minister of Holy Communion. The entire congregation is blessed by the priest at the end of Mass just prior to the dismissal. The faithful may present themselves and their children to the priest or deacon for an individual blessing as they leave the church following the recessional from Mass, if desired.
4. No ordinary minister (Bishop, Priest, or Deacon) or extraordinary minister (lay person) of Holy Communion shall extend a hand or touch the head or make a sign of the cross on or over someone in the Communion procession. Some reasons are:
 - A. These signs may convey that a blessing is being given.
 - B. It may confuse the faithful about who may and may not confer blessing within Mass.
 - C. The touching of foreheads and then continuing to administer the Host raises a hygiene concern.
 - D. Particles of the Host on the finger or thumb of the Eucharistic minister may be transferred to the body of the person being touched on the head.

Fr. Leo's column continued....

Starting next weekend, we begin National Catholic Schools Week. This is the week that we recognize what a gift and blessing a Catholic school is to any parish. As a product of Catholic education in Springfield, I always thought that my educational experience was exceptional. Not only was I taught the things necessary to advance myself in the things of this world, but I also was nurtured and educated in the faith of the Catholic Church. What a gift that was as it was the seed of my vocation to the priesthood. As we celebrate who we are as St. Peter School, there will be a variety of activities that week to celebrate our identity as a Catholic school. It goes without saying that the foundation of a strong Catholic school is found in the parish that supports it and continues to pray for it. I ask your continual support of our school through your stewardship of treasure and well as your stewardship of prayer. Together we will maintain and grow our school and the very foundation stones of our Catholic faith.

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE: Church wisdom: Some people are kind, polite, and sweet-spirited—until you sit in their pews.

Many folks want to serve God, but only as advisers. Opportunity may knock once, but temptation bangs on your front door forever.

Quit griping about your church; if it was perfect, you couldn't belong.

If the church wants a better pastor, it only needs to pray for the one it has.

It is easier to preach one sermon than it is to live one.

When you get to wits end,
you'll find God lives there.

Office of the Bishop

January 2021

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Soon our diocese will take up the Collection for the Church in Latin America. This national collection supports many pastoral projects that benefit the faithful in Latin America and the Caribbean. In the mountains of northeastern Colombia, on the border with Venezuela, the Diocese of Cucuta has been a migration point for needy Venezuelan refugees coming in search of food, medicine, and daily necessities. For several years, the diocese's welcome centers have served more than 1,000 meals each day to hungry migrants. The primary center, at Casa de Paso Divina Providencia, has been addressing the needs of these refugees with diocesan resources as well as assistance from local businesses, charities, and parishes.

The Collection for the Church in Latin America, in solidarity with these vulnerable refugees and the local diocese serving them, provided much-needed assistance to ensure that Casa de Paso Divina Providencia can continue its work of hospitality and mercy. Your contribution to the collection not only supports and sustains these invaluable efforts but also allows you to stand in closer unity with refugees and those serving them.

Our diocese takes up this collection the weekend of January 23 and 24. Please be generous toward the collection. Take this opportunity to share your faith with our sisters and brothers in Latin America and the Caribbean. Your support truly makes a difference.

Thank you, and God bless you.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Most Reverend Thomas John Paprocki
Bishop of Springfield in Illinois

A Prayer for Protection In Time Of Pandemic

O Mary, you always brighten our path as a sign of salvation and of hope. We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick, who, at the Cross, took part in Jesus' pain while remaining steadfast in faith.

O loving Mother, you know what we need, and we are confident you will provide for us as at Cana in Galilee. Intercede for us with your Son Jesus, the Divine Physician, for those who have fallen ill, for those who are vulnerable, and for those who have died. Intercede also for those charged with protecting the health and safety of others and for those who are tending to the sick and seeking a cure.

Help us, O Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who took upon himself our suffering and carried our sorrows, so as to lead us, through the Cross, to the glory of the Resurrection. Amen.

Rest in Peace
May the soul of sing praises with the Angels in Heaven forever.

Catholic Times Online Edition

Issues with U.S. Postal Service - Catholic Times is aware of several locations in our diocese that have not received their Catholic Times recently or have been getting the magazine late. Unfortunately, it is out of our control as the U.S. Postal Service is responsible for mailing our magazine. You can read the latest edition of Catholic Times by visiting ct.dio.org. The online version flips just like a magazine. You can also subscribe to receive the online edition of Catholic Times to your inbox by going to: ct.dio.org/subscribe.
