Twenty-ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time

OCTOBER 16, 2022

Exodus 17:8-13; 2 Timothy 3:14—4:2;
Luke 18:1-8

Spiritual writers tell us that we pray to prepare ourselves to receive God's gifts. We do not pray to bend God's will. And we do not pray to remind him of his promise to do good to us. Nevertheless, today's Scripture readings seem to tell us to keep "nagging" God!

The first reading tells the story of a battle between Israel and its enemies in the Exodus. Moses prays with arms outstretched. As long as he keeps praying, Israel keeps winning. But when his arms get tired and droop, Israel falls back. So Aaron and Hur prop Moses' arms up so that Israel will keep winning.

The Gospel tells us the story about a little old widow who seeks justice from a corrupt judge. We can imagine her: about four feet high, in tennis shoes, rather shabby clothes, with an umbrella, perhaps. She keeps nagging at the corrupt judge. He won't decide in her favor because of the merits of her case. But he worries that the little old lady will beat him over the head with her umbrella! So he decides in her favor.

It is a parable, of course! The point is that we must keep "nagging" God. This means that we must persevere in prayer. Our perseverance will show that we depend entirely on God.

The second reading contains a beautiful expression about God's word: "All Scripture is inspired by God and is suitable for teaching, for refuting error, for guiding people's lives, and for teaching them to be holy."

When the author wrote these words, the only existing Scriptures were the Hebrew Scriptures or the Old Testament. But it is true of the entire Bible. St. Jerome said that ignorance of the Scriptures is ignorance of Christ! Let us make daily Bible reading a part of our spiritual life. Let us nourish our souls not only with the Eucharist, but with the Word of God.

Twenty-ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time, October 16, 2022

Dear Parishioners,

This weekend the Church celebrates the 29th Sunday of Ordinary Time. As nature begins its annual change, getting ready for the winter months, so we are given the opportunity to see God's presence in the beauty of nature. All we have to do is look around, the leaves are changing, the weather is getting cooler, and the animals are preparing for the winter months ahead—and in this whole process we see the glory of God. May each of us enjoy this picture being created before our very eyes.

If we want to summarize our readings today, we could easily state that they are about persevering in prayer. This sounds so simple. But when we pray and our prayers go unanswered, then we begin to slack off and do not see a need for prayer. But the theme remains, "keep praying!" We find this persistence in our first reading from Exodus. The Israelites are engaged in battle against the Amalekites. As long as Moses kept his hands raised up in prayer, the Israelites would have the better of the fight. When Moses' hands dropped from fatigue, then Aaron and others would support his hands in this prayer position throughout the night. And the Israelites would gain the victory—such is the persistence in prayer. Our gospel is similar in following this theme. There was a widow, who was seeking a just decision from the judge and yet he was unwilling to give it to her. Because of her persistence and perseverance in her requests, the judge finally rendered a verdict in favor of her. Again, our readings today tell us to "keep praying!" Jesus asks the question, "Will not God secure the rights of his chosen ones who call out to him day and night?" The conclusion is, yes, so "keep praying!"

After writing what I did about persistence in prayer, I too question why some of our prayers go unanswered, especially with regard to our sister parishes in Haiti. These people are suffering and our prayers for them seem to go unanswered. I would like to share with you a recent note from Fr. Delix Michel, the pastor. He writes: "In Passe-Reine, everything is calm. It is peaceful in the road and the neighborhood. However, people are suffering. It is truly sad. Potable water is a necessity. In my parish, they have good water from the water filters given to them in the past (from St. Peter Church and School). It will be more helpful with the cholera is back. The situation is bad and scary with the political turmoil, the lack of water and food, the hunger, etc. The lack of fuel, the cost of living, and the insecurity don't facilitate the opening of the school year. In some places, people continue the riots and lootings. People are experiencing the density of the misery on a daily basis. Many people come to ask for financial assistance and food. The country is on the ere of a humanitarian crisis. The situation is getting wors day by day. We may be close to a food catastrophe. I did my best to help while remaining vey careful because of the circumstances. Many people want the prime minister to leave. He has just requested armed troops for intervention from the UN to stop the gangs that are so dangerous. Let us continue to pray for one another. Keep Haiti and the Haitian people in your prayers. I thank you very much for all that you do for me and my people. May God bless you." Fr. Delix Michel

As I said, "keep praying!" Our brothers and sisters need our prayers.

Fr. Leo's column continued..

Fr. Delix Michel will be with us next weekend, October 22-23. I'm inviting him to speak at all of our weekend Masses, expressing personally what he said in his letter. I ask you to consider financially helping him as he ministers to our brothers and sisters in our sister parishes in Haiti. We are planning on having a reception for him after the 9:30 Mass on Sunday, October 23. Yes, I know, that because of inflation, things are more costly and people need to watch their expenditures. But these are our brothers and sisters whom we adopted and need to continue to assist. Thank you in advance for your prayer and support.

Also, next weekend, we will be having a report after Holy Communion of our stewardship progress this past year. I ask you to listen attentively and to respond with your time, talents, and treasures.

ON THE LIGHTER SIDE: A minister in a new parish was presenting the children's message. Because the sanctuary in the church had some magnificent stained glass windows, with each depicting a story from the Bible, the minister's message centered on how each of us is called to help make up the whole picture of life. Like the pictures in the windows, it takes many little panels of glass to make the whole picture. And then he said, "you see each one of you is a little pane. And then pointing to each child, "you are a little pane. And you're a little pane. And you're a little pane. And"....It took a few moments before he realized why everyone was laughing.
