Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time

JANUARY 29, 2023

Zephaniah 2:3,3:12-13; 1 Corinthians 1:26-31;
Matthew 5:1-12a

Matthew's Gospel is the most "Jewish" of the Gospels. It is structured around five great sermons or discourses of Jesus. The reason: There were five scrolls or books of Moses; Matthew shows Jesus as the "new Moses." The first of the sermons is the Sermon on the Mount. Moses went up on the mountain to receive the Holy Torah; Jesus goes up the mountain to proclaim the "new Law."

If we add the infancy story of Jesus and the Passion-Death-Resurrection narrative to the five sermons, we have seven units. The perfect number to the Jews was seven! These are but a few examples of the "Jewishness" of Matthew. Matthew wants to show Jesus as the fulfillment of all the promises made to the Jews.

Today's Gospel contain the opening words of the very first sermon recorded of Jesus, the Sermon on the Mount. The Beatitudes can be considered in many different ways. They may be an entirely new "value system": Jesus blesses humility; the world blesses pride. Jesus blesses the meek; the world extols the self-assertive. Jesus blesses those who are sorry for sin ("mourn"); the world never wants to admit a mistake. Jesus blesses the clean of heart; the world cherishes the risqué, the bawdy, and the immoral.

The Beatitudes might also be considered as the process of conversion: "Poor in spirit" means those who have nothing else to rely on; they must turn to God. Unless we realize our need for God, we won't turn to him. "Sorrowing" really means those who are sorry for sin. We must realize our sinfulness and want to turn away. We must hunger and thirst for holiness in order that the Lord may fill us with his saving grace. Then, in turn, if we show mercy to others, God will show us mercy.

The first reading, from Zephaniah, urges us to seek humility and justice. The second reading tells us that we aren't too sophisticated or wise; but no matter! God chooses those who are nothing to show his own powerful grace. Realize your need of God, your need to reform; hunger for holiness. The Lord will fill you.

4TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

I write to you with a sad and heavy heart. This past week on Monday January 23, 2023, Bella Arisman, my beloved dachshund died. We put her down that morning and buried her here at St. Francis Solanus in her fenced in area in the back yard. I am tremendously heartbroken, although improving. I apologize for any delays in response or calls or visits or meetings as honestly, I have been just unable to do much more than cry and mourn her death. She went with me everywhere and did most everything with me, so there is no escaping the constant reminder of her absence. You have no idea how much she loved being here at St. Francis. She LOVED going to the school and over to parish functions. She loved being around everyone and getting all the attention and love you have given here these past couple of years of being here together. She loved the office staff, and I can't thank them enough for all they did to care for her and keep her company when I was busy. I must especially thank Yukari Shindo, our parish cook, for taking such good care of Bella both here at the house, and she would watch her when I was away and needed it. Bella loved her so much. I thank my parents for dropping everything to come care for her until I could get home to see her, as she was not well the last couple days of the march for life and travel home. Monday things took a major turn for the worse and it was clear she wasn't going to pull through. Thank you to all the office staff that gathered and helped me bury her. Thank you to Fr. Zach Samples the parochial vicar and my good friend for being so caring and supportive, especially for being here and making sure I was eating. I am so grateful for the immense outpouring of love to myself and Bella and the immense stories from people about her, both here in Quincy, but also my previous assignments in the Decatur area. My people from Mt. Zion, OLHS and St. Isidore, Bethany, and St. Teresa High School in Decatur, love her and her shenanigans and she loved them. My heart is broken, but your love and prayers help heal it. I will get better, but it hurts right now. I will heal, but I won't forget her. These have been a truly blessed six years with my little buddy, although her first years before me were awful, I am so happy to have shown her how loved she should have been. Bella was about 11-12 years old. She was abused and neglected as a puppy mill and was going to be put down because they couldn't breed her anymore. That is when God brought her into my life as the gift she was from the beginning. She couldn't walk and was in terrible health when I got her, but we were able love her back to good health. I am just so pleased she was able to be with me as long as she was. Thank you Lord for the gift she is to me.

March for Life was a phenomenal experience, and I hope we as a parish will start to connect with that event and head to DC in larger numbers to continue our work of witnessing to life, as well as participate in the march for life here in our backyard in the state of Illinois, as we have a lot to do to overturn the horrific laws of the state of Illinois burdening women with the "choice" that doesn't give them freedom, but instead burdens them with a decision that is unfathomable, and often overwhelming feeling pushed into ending the life of their child. Let's continue to support the right to life and the work of the Birthright Center and Right to Life of Adams County here in our area.

This weekend we focus on being a faithful remnant. This means the few left behind that are truly loyal and faithful to the Lord. Paul tells us it is in our weakness that God shows through in the work He does through each of you. How do we live out this faithful remnant we are called to as the weak doing grand things, the beatitudes. So let us be a faithful people who live out this playbook of holiness, we call the beatitudes.

Now to continue our Tolton Image explanation: Above and behind Father Tolton is a set of arches. Within church architecture, arches make visible the idea of the heavens reaching down to earth. The ones in this painting are not meant to imply real space but to provide a meaningful format to relate Tolton's story.

St. Peter can be seen to the right of the inner arch to recognize that Tolton was baptized in St. Peter's Church in Brush Creek, Missouri, and attended St. Peter's Church and school in Quincy. It was here that he was encouraged and guided in discerning the priesthood. On the opposite side of the arch stands St. Joseph, acknowledging St. Joseph Church in Quincy where Tolton served as pastor several years later. Below St. Peter and St. Joseph are images representing Tolton's secondary education. The Tau cross represents St. Francis Solanus College (now Quincy University), which at that time was a branch of our St. Francis Solanus Parish and the bee is a design that can be found on the crest of the Urbanium, where Tolton received seminary formation and training in Rome.

Above St. Joseph and St. Peter, the prominent design, which resembles an accordion, is taken from a pattern also found in St. John Lateran Church, Rome. It is also included to acknowledge Father Tolton's musical abilities – he knew how to play the Accordion and is said to have had a beautiful singing voice.

The accordion stretches out on either side of a square shaped cross with a circle inscribed in its center. An alpha and omega are found inside the circle, closely matching a design found on a stained-glass window on the north side of St. Francis Solanus Church. The alpha and the omega are also found on the doors of the tabernacle and on the pipes of the organ in St. Francis Solanus Church. The alpha and omega were chosen to remember that in all things and in all times, including Tolton's, Christ is the beginning and the end. This is painted to have visual prominence compared to the colors around it, emphasizing that Jesus is the pinnacle and focus.

Evening Prayer Every Sunday

Come join us in praying Evening Prayer every Sunday at 6:30 in the Friars Choir to the left of the sanctuary. This 15-minute prayer is part of the Liturgy of the Hours, the daily prayer of the Church that marks the hours of the day and sanctifies the day with prayer. It is a beautiful, ancient prayer of the Church and we all are encouraged to participate. All materials and instruction are provided. Hope to see you there!

Rest in Peace

INSPIRING FAITH, KNOWLEDGE & SERVICE

It's Catholic Schools Week!

January 29-February 4. This year's theme is Faith. Service. Excellence. Activities include a Change Cancer raffle, making valentines for veterans, vocation visits and trips to a movie screening of Joseph: King of Dreams and bowling at the Tangerine Bowl.

On Wednesday veterans are invited to attend the school Mass.

PTO is sponsoring coffee and donuts next Sunday, February 5. They also will be selling trash bags next weekend.

Families interested in preschool for the 2023-24 school year are invited to an open house Tues., February 28 from 6-7 p.m. in the preschool classroom in the lower level. Our preschool teachers have degrees in early childhood education and they understand how to best use developmentally appropriate practices in a preschool setting. It is a quality preschool program. Come check it out!

Nominate a teacher

Do you know a Catholic school teacher who strives for academic excellence with a focus on the Catholic mission? Or a teacher who left a lasting impression on you or your child? How about a teacher who goes above and beyond for her students and who lives authentically Catholic? Nominate that teacher for the diocese-wide St. Elizabeth Ann Seaton Award. Nominations are due by March 5. Go to dio.org/school/eas.

Elsewhere around school:

NO SCHOOL FEBRUARY 17. Teacher meetings all day.

School Mardi Gras will be Tues, February 21, featuring a carnival and prayer service.

Kindergarten Kick-Off March 3 to welcome the 2023-24 kindergarten class. There will be a school tour and other activities.
