Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

FEBRUARY 12, 2023

Sirach 15:15-20; 1 Corinthians 2:6-10;
Matthew 5:17-37

We don't like to hear it, but we are responsible for our actions! The first reading tells us that we can choose to do good, or we can choose to do evil. We are in charge. And we must take the responsibility for our deeds.

We can chose life, or we can choose death. God does not command anyone to sin; in fact, he makes sure that no one is ever tempted beyond the strength to resist. So what excuses do we have for our behavior?

Our Christian moral code goes beyond our natural inclinations; it even goes beyond the commands of the Old Law. The former law commanded us not to murder; Jesus says we are not even to be angry.

The old law said that we must not commit adultery; Jesus says we must not have lust in our heart. The old law commanded us to fulfill our vows; Jesus says that if we are truly loyal to him, oaths are unnecessary. He commands us to say what we mean, and always to act according to our good conscience.

Our second reading speaks of "wisdom." Pagans thought that "wisdom" was speculation and argumentation. Paul says that real wisdom is to know the mystery of God: that he loved us so much that he sent his Son to save us, and that his Son died and rose that we might have life.

Let us always have the wisdom to seek to know God's will at all times, and the courage to do his will. Remember, we are responsible for our souls.

6TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Welcome Steve Agrisano to St. Francis Solanus! This is very exciting. Steve Agrisano is a very big name in Catholic Music, and this is beyond a pleasure to have him here. Many of his songs are in our Music Issue and we sing regularly. Please make sure you take the opportunity to come to his parish mission for us!

We continue with the sermon on the mount today. It's a six-week sermon, and you think mine are long! Our Readings this weekend are focused on living out the commandments. Plain and simple. The commandments are not requests they are commands. Also, it is not enough to just live out the commandments, but to allow them to shape us in every action. They are more than just not killing, but about harboring anger or resentment or grudges. All these many commandments call us to so much more than just the basic understanding of their meaning. They have a greater depth and give so much more life than just no. BUT the final words of the gospel I think are of the utmost importance today. Let your yes mean yes and your no mean no. Stop being duplicitous. Mean what you say and say what you mean. Anything more Jesus tells us is from the evil one, as it causes division. Be a people unified with the will of the Father in your life.

Lastly, I am going to introduce you to our new parish coat of arms. We are going to begin using it for identification purposes and branding purposes. So here is the short description of this beautiful rendering.

The Violin is a major image of St. Francis Solanus, as he used the instrument to teach the native peoples the faith through music. This image is in the large stained-glass window above the main large west door to the church. The anchor is a nod to the Diocese of Alton, which was the diocese when our parish was founded. The anchor is on the coat of arms of the Diocese of Alton. The anchor is also in our church on one of our confessionals on the southeast side, as it's part of the image of the immaculate heart of Mary. The shell is a major image of St. Francis Solanus, as he is often pictured baptizing the native peoples with a shell. This image is the central figure of the high altar in the church. This is also found in the entry way on one of the old banners of the parish. The central image of the coat of arms is the arms of the Franciscan Order. One arm is that of Jesus Christ and the other is that of St. Francis of Assisi which both have the wounds from the crucifixion, as St. Francis Assisi had the stigmata, the wounds of Christ. Behind the crossed arms is always the cross and sometimes clouds. This is the central image of the arms as the 160 years of Franciscans were central to our creation and life as a parish. The three plumes of feathers behind these arms are to represent the native people's that St. Francis Solanus ministered to in Peru. The red, white, and red plumes are corresponding to the flag of Peru, which St. Francis Solanus is often called the Apostle to Peru. The blue field background and the white river are a nod to the Diocese of Springfield in Illinois, which is the diocese we currently reside in. The white river is also representative of the Mississippi river which is so prominent in our lives here in Quincy. The coat of arms is surrounded then in the name of our parish and founding date of the parish which is 1860. This coat of arms was rendered by Enzo Parrino, an artist from Italy that works to create arms for priests, bishops, parishes and dioceses. This coat of arms tells our story.

A Thank you from Bishop Paprocki...

Dear Fr. Arisman,

Please extend my gratitude to everyone involved in my pastoral visit to Saint Francis Solanus Parish on Jan. 14. I was happy to give the sacraments of Confirmation and First Holy Communion to your young people and to renew those graces in their families, too. Both that liturgy and the Sunday Mass later Saturday afternoon were beautiful and Godly, for which I am grateful to all who made them possible. I also send thanks to everyone on your parish staff, members of your parish Pastoral and Finance councils, as well as leaders in the school who gave their time and attention to our dinner and meeting Saturday evening. I am grateful also to the Holy Name Society, who by their hospitality made our conversation about the four pillars of our synod festive and enjoyable.

Even though I had only a handful of hours around the parish, I was able to experience firsthand those four fundamental characteristics of a truly Christian parish family. The warmth of your staff and volunteers, which has attracted many to practice their faith at St. Francis Solanus, was evident to me as soon as I entered the Church, prepared in the sacristy, and spent time in the parish center. I am always moved by the beauty of your church, but this occasion was especially lovely in these days after Christmas and as your youth received their sacraments. I was happy to see such sentiments of joy and reverence in their faces, something I pray will encourage all of you when you come before the Lord in worship. I heard about many different formation events for all ages happening in the parish and the exceptional people who make them happen. My prayers will continue for fruitfulness in their efforts, and that many others will step forward to delve more deeply into our Catholic faith. Finally, I also got to see and hear about ongoing opportunities for service: from your food pantry to various parish groups, to charitable works done by your students.

I offer everyone involved in these authentically Christian works my encouragement, and I also invite those who are not yet giving of themselves in these ways to ask the Lord where He is calling them to follow Him in faithfulness. Know of my prayers, and please keep me in yours.

Parish Mission with Steve Angrisano

Welcome Steve Angrisano!

Join us for a special night of music and storytelling with this renowned Catholic recording artist, composer and music missionary. Two dates to choose from: Monday, February 13 or Tuesday 14 in the church at St. Francis at 6:30 p.m.

Steve has traveled around the world for over two decades sharing his unique blend of humor, story and song. Check out his website: www.steveangrisano.com.

We hope to see you there!

My name is Ryan Scheuermann, and I am a Life Scout from Boy Scout Troop 76 in Quincy, IL. I am a senior at QND and am currently planning my Eagle Scout project. I am seeking monetary donations for the material and professional labor that will be required to carry out my project. My project is building a grotto for a Blessed Virgin Mary statue on the grounds of St. Francis Solanus Church. The cost of the project is $4,000. All monetary donations are tax deductible. We hope to begin construction in a couple of weeks. Checks can be put in the collection or dropped at the office. I am very grateful for any assistance you can provide, and deeply appreciate you taking the time to help make my project a success.

Grief Share sessions started February 1 and will run for 13 weeks (except Holy Week). Sessions run from 2-4 p.m. in the Bride's Room. There is no charge for this group, which is non-denominational. Everyone is welcome. Please contact Pat Holbrook for more information,

Youth Group Donation Bookstore

The St. Francis Youth Group is hosting a pop-up gift shop in the Gathering Space on Ash Wednesday, February 22 after Masses and Ash Services. Farewell from Youth Minister Jake Terry

Dear Brothers and Sisters of St. Francis,

It has been a great honor for me to serve you and your kids. We have had a wonderful time together and have created a successful youth group which will not only last but, God willing, grow. Unfortunately this is the end of my time at St. Francis.

The reason for this parting is that my wife and I have decided to move back to St. Louis. This choice comes because of the joyful news of our sweet baby that is due in July, but it also comes with the bitterness of having to leave the Parish which we love so dearly. My wife is from St. Louis and her entire family lives there, so the prospect of being close to them is what is driving us that way. While that is exciting, it still comes with great sorrow for having to leave so many people who are dear to us.

Please keep Amy, myself, and our baby in your prayers as we enter this new chapter of our lives, and pray for our youth group that it continues to grow and be beneficial for our children in leading them to the foot of Christ's throne. I will never forget my time here, nor will I stop praying for all of you that you grow in the knowledge and love of Jesus Christ.

40 Days for Life
