March 12, 2023 Third Sunday of Lent

A Message from Fr. Tom Donovan:

Jacob's well, housed in the Orthodox church of St. Photinus in the modern city of Nablus in Israel.

The next three weekends of Lent, we hear a series of stories from the Gospel of John. The First story is the Samaritan Woman at the Well. She was searching not only for some water, but for some clarity in her life. She had been married a number of times, but had not found a stable relationship in her life. Jesus approaches her as a supernatural suitor, one who is vying not simply for her affections, but for a supernatural love which she herself was perhaps not aware of.

Next week, we hear about the man born blind. The blindness experienced by the man was not merely a natural ailment. Jesus draws a new faith out of the man, opening not only his physical eyes, but his 'spiritual eyes' as well.

The final image comes to us from the story of the death of Lazarus. Here, we see Jesus interacting with Martha and Mary, asking them if they have faith in him. They reply as any of us would, "of course I have faith", but they do not know the full ramifications of that proclamation. Do you believe that the Son of Man has power over life and death... REAL live and death? "But Lord, if you open the tomb, won't there be a stench?" Martha believed, but in a very superficial or perhaps even 'symbolic' way. Yes, she believed in the Lord, but she had a very practical concern—you remove the stone from the tomb of a dead man and it will stink! But Jesus is not simply a symbolic god or one who speaks in metaphors. He actually intends and is able to raise Lazarus from the dead. All of those who saw the events of that day would have not only a worldly trust in Jesus, but a supernatural hope borne out of his power over life and death itself.

Each of these stories are meant to go together and are meant to build up the faith. Indeed, they are not simply "stories" or "narratives", but they are invitations for us to go deeper into who and what we believe Jesus to be. Do we really believe that he can satisfy the deepest longings of our heart? Do we believe that he can give us a new way of looking at the world? Do we really believe that he has true, and not simply symbolic, power over life and death? Finally, do we really believe that he is truly risen and working among us to reveal the path to eternal life? It is a legacy which we hand to new Catholics every year, but which we all must consider as we hear these powerful stories of faith and conversion.

Easter is four weeks away. We look forward to the celebration of the Sacraments with our new Catholics as an outward sign of the the renewal of faith within our Church.

A Message from Mrs. Carol Frericks—Principal

Third-Grade Leaders Teach Corporal Work of Mercy

During the month of March, the third-grade class along with their teacher, Mrs. Meg Benner, will lead our Morning Assemblies and teach the entire school about the Corporal Work of Mercy—Shelter the Homeless and the Fruit of the Holy Spirit—Faithfulness. According to the USCCB, there are many circumstances that could lead to someone becoming a person without a home. Jesus encourages us to go out and meet those without homes, affirming their worth and helping them seek a resolution to the challenges they face. The third-grade service project is to collect funds and make a donation to help homeless families.
