Fourth Sunday of Easter

APRIL 30, 2023

Acts 2:14a,36-41; 1 Peter 2:20b-25;
John 10:1-10

Today is usually called “Good Shepherd Sunday.” But the metaphors in today’s Scripture readings speak of Jesus in other terms also. The first reading is the first sermon in the Church; it is given by Peter. He accuses the Jerusalem populace of complicity in crucifying Jesus. He declares that God has raised him from the dead and made him Lord and Messiah.

Peter does not enter into a theological discussion of the pre-existence of Christ, nor of the Incarnation. He simply says that by the resurrection, Jesus effectively is made Lord and Messiah. He is more than the promise made to Israel; he is Lord.

The second reading speaks of Jesus as a lamb led to the slaughter. He did not resist, did not cry out. There are allusions here to the Suffering Servant Songs of Isaiah. He offered himself as the Lamb of God to the Father, and by his wounds, we are healed. Then the author changes the metaphor: We were the straying sheep, but now we have returned to the shepherd and guardian of our souls.

The first part of the Gospel speaks of the shepherd who leads his sheep. The sheep will follow only their own shepherd. Jesus is that Good Shepherd who provides for our needs, who protects us, who binds up our wounds, who searches for us when we are lost, who leads us and guides us. The second part of the Gospel changes the metaphor: Jesus is now the gate of the sheep enclosure. All must go in through him. Elsewhere in John, Jesus says that he is the “way.”

Whatever the metaphors, the meaning is clear: The Lord Jesus Christ must be the meaning of our lives. We must see every aspect of our lives in the context of Christ. Our salvation, our forgiveness, our advancement on the way to the Father all come through, with, and in Christ. He is shepherd, Lamb of God, and gate of the sheepfold. He is Messiah and Lord. He is the way, the truth, and our life.

4TH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Today St. Peter continues that first homily, and we hear the call to conversion. This is not just a call to the Jews, but a call to all of us, as we are accountable for the death of Christ by our sin. So let us repent and be baptized and never stop repenting! This homily brought about the conversion and baptism of 3000 persons that day. How profound and amazing when the Holy Spirit speaks, and when we open our hearts to the message. In the second reading St. Peter reminds us to suffer like Christ, patiently and quietly.

In the Gospel of John today Jesus gives us several warnings. First be on guard against those who try to sneak in and poach the flock. He warns that some will come and pretend to be a shepherd and will try to take the sheep away from the one true flock, the one true Church, that Jesus founded. He says there is only one way in and out and that is Jesus, who is the gate, which Jesus and the Catholic Church are one. He the head and shepherd and we the body. Look for true shepherds. Sadly, we have been taught and even more sad is that we have taught our children that a good shepherd is one who entertains us, gives in to our demands, and doesn't follow rules. We have been taught this often by the church, by our families, but most especially our society. If the shepherd doesn't placate to you, then he is mean and angry and rigid and bad. Stop teaching your children this mentality. Since being here, people have told their children that being challenged, held accountable, following the rules, or being corrected is bad. We have had many instances in the school of this and in the Church. Whether it be over following school rules or Church rules, it is the job of a good shepherd to guide the sheep rightly, especially when they are in danger. This does include parents and grandparents, stop leading your kids away from the Church by leading them away from rules and correction. A good shepherd is one who guards the sheep from outside danger, guides the sheep to safety and peace, and protects the sheep from themselves.

So often the sheep are in danger of outside forces, including sin, but also the wolves of those around the sheep. The good shepherd protects the sheep from being picked off by sin or the wolves of either other "churches" or just the society telling them bad things about faith and belief. So, a good shepherd should call out sin and challenge the sheep to not run to the wolves or not put themselves in danger of the wolves. Don't be led away by others claiming an easier or you-fitting Christianity. There is only one. Don't be led away by the temptations and lies of the world to run from the Church.

A true shepherd protects the sheep from themselves. If you understand that sheep are not smart, the sheep imagery of Jesus is a warning that often we don't think. Sheep tend to follow the other sheep even into danger. Sheep have a tendency to get themselves into danger and lead the other sheep into following them into danger. Sheep would walk off a cliff side and lead the others to do so. Sheep will wander away from the group and be a target for predators. A true shepherd's job is to keep you in the group, the Catholic Church. The true shepherd's job is to keep you from wandering away. The true shepherd's job is to lead in the example of the Good Shepherd and not his own way or the way the sheep want to go. Mass and the homily and the music, etc. is not meant to be entertaining. They are not meant to be like the other parts of your life. Mass is supposed to be totally different than the world around it. The homily and music, etc. is not the reason we go to a place for mass. The Eucharist and the reverence of the mass should be why we attend. The way rules are followed, and the faith is proclaimed is why we attend mass. The rest of our lives are about entertainment, let mass be the one place where you give of yourself and challenge yourself to discipline and growth.

The shepherd should guide the sheep to safety and peace. All of us want stability and peace and safety. That can only be truly found in living out the life that Jesus has called us to. He has called us to a WAY of life and anything else or any other way will fall short. Be the best version of yourself that God has in store for you, and you will find true peace. Once we have the stability of resting in Him and his safety, even when suffering and struggles come, no matter how tragic and immense, Jesus will give us a peace that can weather any storm in Him. Peace and safety come by living in Christ and His Church and His rules and His way. Do not be led astray. Do not lead your families astray. Just because you may be challenged or corrected or called to follow the rules, doesn't mean it's because of malice, but instead out of love by your shepherds who should be following the true and Good Shepherd, Jesus Christ. He didn't say it would be easy, but today in the gospel warns us to be on guard and follow His Way.

Thank you all so much for your birthday wishes and gifts for Fr. Rafal and myself. The generous giving is appreciated. Your kind outreach and wonderful words of encouragement are so greatly appreciated. We both enjoyed our birthdays and appreciate the outpouring of love.

Evening Prayer Every Sunday

Come join us in praying Evening Prayer every Sunday at 6:30 in the Friars Choir to the left of the sanctuary. This 15-minute prayer is part of the Liturgy of the Hours, the daily prayer of the Church that marks the hours of the day and sanctifies the day with prayer. It is a beautiful, ancient prayer of the Church and we all are encouraged to participate. All materials and instruction are provided. Hope to see you there!

Disclosure List Published by Franciscan Province of the Sacred Heart

Dear Parish Members,

The Franciscan Province of the Sacred Heart has published a disclosure list of members who have been credibly accused of sexually abusing minors. The list identifies 26 credibly accused friars by name, number of years in the Sacred Heart Province, and current status—for example, deceased or living and permanently prohibited from public ministry. The disclosure list is available on the Sacred Heart Province website: www.thefriars.org—where you will also find my letter with more information about this process. The disclosure list is affirmation of Sacred Heart Province's commitment to accountability, transparency, and safe environments for the protection of children and vulnerable persons. We hope that publishing this list will help bring healing and peace to abuse survivors.

For information on how the Sacred Heart Province addresses allegations of sexual misconduct, please visit <https://thefriars.org/Protection-of-Children>. If you or someone you know has been sexually abused by a friar of Sacred Heart Province, immediately report it to your local law enforcement authorities and contact the Province's Survivor Assistance Coordinator, Lynn Duffield at 314-250-2275.

You, your loved ones, and your intentions are in our prayers. We are grateful for your support and prayers for us. Please join our friar community in praying for healing and peace for abuse survivors, and that Sacred Heart friars and all Franciscans will be examples of the caring and gentleness of our founding father, St. Francis of Assisi, and our loving Savior, Jesus Christ.

God bless you,

Fr. Thomas Nairn, OFM

INSPIRING FAITH, KNOWLEDGE & SERVICE

At STEM Night April 20 St. Francis sixth, seventh and eighth graders demonstrated what they've learned in Mr. Shaun Carey's science classes. Sixth graders created devices to protect an egg from breaking when dropped from the balcony in the gym. Seventh graders built mouse trap -powered cars and eighth graders designed and built catapults to launch raw eggs. This is a much-anticipated event Mr. Carey hosts each spring.

Next weekend's coffee and donuts, with biscuits and gravy, will be hosted by our Girl Scout troop. Hope to see you there!
