Fifth Sunday of Easter

MAY 7, 2023

Acts 6:1-7; 1 Peter 2:4-9;
John 14:1-12

The first reading tells of the ordination of the first deacons of the Church. Their primary function is to minister the charity of the Church. The reading tells us that the number of disciples at Jerusalem enormously increased. The Church is growing. In its growth, the Church will need to cope with problems of administration, with answering many questions, and with a deepening awareness of its mission here on earth.

Very likely, the first Christians did not think that the Church would be around very long; they probably thought that Jesus was going to return in glory very soon. Gradually, however, they saw that the Church was intended to be here for the long term. They may have had some fears about this.

But as they reflected, they surely recalled that Jesus had sent the Holy Spirit to empower them to be his witnesses. He had gone to prepare a place for them, but he was still with them. He is the way, the truth, and the life. And the Holy Spirit manifests Christ to them.

In the Gospel, Jesus tells them that they have put faith in him and in the works he has done. But because he returns to the Father and sends them the Spirit, they will do even greater things than he has done! In the power of the Holy Spirit, the Church must continue the mission of Christ until he comes again.

The second reading recalls Psalm 118: Jesus is the stone rejected by the builders who has become the cornerstone, the capstone, of the structure. But it is more than stone: We are living stones being built into God's temple. We need to realize our dignity as the "new Israel."

In Exodus 19:6, God told Israel that it was a kingdom of priests, a holy nation. The author of 1 Peter goes even further: "You are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a consecrated nation, a people God claims for his very own."

If we are awed and frightened by our mission on earth, let us realize that the Lord is still with us. He has empowered us to be his faithful witnesses through the Holy Spirit. Let us be his instruments in the salvation of the world.

5TH SUNDAY OF EASTER

Temperance

Temperance is one of the four cardinal virtues. For those who don't know, the four cardinal virtues are the central-most virtues for Catholic Moral teaching. The four cardinal virtues are found in the Book of Wisdom 8:7- "Wisdom teaches temperance, and prudence, and justice, and fortitude, which are such things as men can have nothing more profitable in life."

The catechism says the following: "Temperance is the moral virtue that moderates the attraction of pleasures and provides balance in the use of created goods. It ensures the will's mastery over instincts and keeps desires within the limits of what is honorable. The temperate person directs the sensitive appetites toward what is good and maintains a healthy discretion: "Do not follow your inclination and strength, walking according to the desires of your heart."

Temperance is often praised in the Old Testament: "Do not follow your base desires, but restrain your appetites." In the New Testament it is called "moderation" or "sobriety." We ought "to live sober, upright, and godly lives in this world." The central need for Temperance is to stop us from creating Idols. We often think of Idols as strange things that pagans used to make and worship out of stupidity, and that today we are free of all that nonsense, but this is far from the truth.

Idol worship is an extremely common problem today, especially in the extravagance of Western Society. Money, food, drink, sexual pleasure, and even forms of entertainment like TV and movies are all capable of being turned into Idols, and sapping the worship that belongs to God. This can happen with less obvious things, too, like politics, work, sports, and dare I say... Family. These important things can become Idols if not treated with the sobering power of Temperance. They are not the highest thing, they are lesser things, even family.

How many Pagans built Idols in order to pray for the safety of their family members? Even that noble reason did not please our Lord who said: "You shall not have other gods beside me. You shall not make for yourself an idol or a likeness of anything in the heavens above or on the earth below or in the waters beneath the earth; you shall not bow down before them or serve them. For I, the Lord, your God, am a jealous God." (Ex 20:3-5).

This does not mean we can't enjoy the pleasures of life, rather it means we must master the pleasures of life. They must be submitted to our will and placed under the most high God. By doing this we actually free ourselves to enjoy them more, because they're able to be just what they are: A good meal or a tasty drink and nothing more. Our fulfillment in life won't be dependent on fleeting things.

So, how do we know if we're practicing Temperance? The best way is to look at our favorite pleasures and see how often we're partaking in them and more importantly how often we say no to them. Through this we will be able to keep Christ as the source and summit of our lives.

Evening Prayer Every Sunday

Come join us in praying Evening Prayer every Sunday at 6:30 in the Friars Choir to the left of the sanctuary. This 15-minute prayer is part of the Liturgy of the Hours, the daily prayer of the Church that marks the hours of the day and sanctifies the day with prayer. It is a beautiful, ancient prayer of the Church and we all are encouraged to participate. All materials and instruction are provided. Hope to see you there!

May is for Mary!

Traditionally, May is dedicated to honoring and seeking the intercession of Mary as the Mother of God and Mother of the Church.

Please join us as we say the rosary before the start of Mass at all weekend Masses during the month of May. We need a Rosary leader on Saturday, May 20 and 27 at the 4:30 Mass. If you can volunteer contact Stephanie Ohnemus 217-228-9616.

Thank you!

Congratulations and Welcome!
