Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

NOVEMBER 5, 2023

Malachi 1:14b-2:2b,8-10;
1 Thessalonians 2:7b-9,13; Matthew 23:1-12

(One sentence in today's Gospel is often quoted against Catholics: "Call no man 'Father.'" When others use this as a text against calling priests 'Father,' show them 1 Corinthians 4:14-15 where Paul says that he is a father to the Corinthians. The Scriptures cannot contradict themselves; therefore it is legitimate to call priests 'Father.')

Today's Scripture readings deal with ministry and priesthood, but they can also be applied to anyone in public service. The message is that we must serve and not be served. We are not to seek our own glory, but the glory of God.

The background of the Gospel is the situation in Matthew's community around the year 80 A.D. After the destruction of Jerusalem in 70 A.D., the only surviving Jews were Pharisees who went to Jabneh (Jamnia), a seacoast town on the Mediterranean, where they tried to preserve Judaism.

They established all kinds of rules. They began using the titles "rabbi" (meaning "great one") and gloried in prestige and honor. They also condemned all who acknowledged Jesus as Messiah. Matthew's community consisted of Jewish Christians. They were torn apart by the decisions of Jamnia. Matthew calls them back to Jesus Christ. He came to serve, not to be served.

No one should seek honors or prestige; rather he should seek to be of service to others. The person who humbles himself will be exalted. Matthew thoroughly condemns the Pharisaism of Jamnia.

In the second reading, Paul reminds the Thessalonians that he was never a burden to them. He worked for his living as a tent-maker, and did not charge them for preaching the Gospel. This showed his genuineness; they received the word of God.

The first reading tells us not to be partial in giving decisions. We must not seek favor with other people, but must always give glory to God. Every public servant must be humble, selfless.

31ST SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

This weekend's readings focus us on right religion, proper worship, and true humility. All of this brings us most specifically to the Eucharist. This last weekend we had a Eucharistic Congress at the Bank of Springfield Center. What an amazing event! I wish all of you would have had the opportunity to attend. It is one of the most exciting events that we've had in a long time in the diocese. If any of you remember the 2003 jubilee year event at the fairgrounds, this reminded me much of that. The energy in the room was electric. The amazing hunger for confession led to many priests, over several hours, hearing many confessions. The speakers were phenomenal. Dr. Scott Hahn lead us through a discussion of the road to Emmaus story from scripture. Father Denis Robinson, OSB, gave us a great testimony upon a simple humble gift of bread from a poor child. This testimony was not only about hospitality, but about the greatest gift of simple bread from our Lord that surprises us with his presence. Father Chase Hilgenbrinck, a priest with Quincy roots, shared with us reflections on the mass, especially from the priest. And Sister Karolyn Nunes, FSGM, shared with us her personal testimony of her call to religious life and the joy that it brings.

There were many great vendors and great exhibits to see. We even had a replica of the Stagecoach that President Lincoln was carried in upon his death. The highlight of the event, as it should be, was the mass! Being able to worship together with that large of a congregation all from throughout our diocese was just the best. Words cannot truly describe it. Exciting, thrilling, reverent, beautiful are just some that come to mind. To turn the Convention Center into such a beautiful worship space literally took not only the decorating but the hearts of all the faithful there giving themselves to the Lord so radically!

Bishop's homily focused on the issues of the day and what the answers to them are. The true answer, it is deep faith, immense stewardship and the Eucharistic presence in our lives and world. Most especially reverent worship of the Eucharist. He talked about the courage and faith of those who founded our diocese and parishes. He called us to evangelization and witness of the gospel and the joy of the church, he called us to radical abandonment of our hearts to the Lord, and he called us to mission, to preach the gospel with great love. To quote Bishop Paprocki,

"We live in a moment of great opportunity, and we stand ready with renewed vigor, confidence, and faith that we can imitate the ordinary people Christ called so many centuries ago to be, with Him, extraordinary ministers of His message and mysteries. Today we remember and pledge to imitate the courage and sacrifice of the missionaries and faithful Catholics who settled here in the diocese and left us the gift and legacy of the Catholic faith.

It is time; time for conversion of heart; time for a renewal of the vision handed on to us; time for a reawakening of the charisms and gifts the Spirit bestows; time to take our Christian vocation as seriously as those who have come before knowing God will sustain us by Word and Sacrament."

Let us take his call to action into our parish, our school, our families, and our hearts! It is time!
