of Lent*

FEBRUARY 25, 2024

Genesis 22:1-2,9a,10-13,15-18;
Romans 8:31b-34; Mark 9:2-10

It's irony and paradox: Our greatest triumphs often follow our worst setbacks; conversely, our glories in this life are sometimes clouded by unbearable crosses.

Our first reading shows this irony: God had chosen Abraham as his special person; he promised him a homeland. He had given him a son in his and Sarah's old age. Now, apparently, God wanted Abraham to sacrifice his son Isaac! Abraham did not understand, yet he trusted that, somehow, God would bring everything out all right.

Our second reading contains that beautiful statement that if God is for us, nothing can be against us. God did not spare his own Son. He allowed him to be delivered up just for our salvation! What an irony! God spared Abraham's son, but not his own! God loves us with an everlasting love.

The Gospel of the Second Sunday of Lent is always the story of the Transfiguration of our Lord. Mark's Gospel has some very down-to-earth images. He says that Jesus' clothes were whiter than any bleach could make them! Peter, overwhelmed at the scene, says how good it is to be there.

His remark about three booths (or tents) may be a reference to the Jewish festival of Succoth, the most joyful of Jewish days, when booths were erected from which all kinds of presents and sweets came.

Or it may be a reference of reverence, alluding to tabernacles to house the patriarchs and the Son of God. The irony is that the scene concludes with Jesus' statement about his own death. The Transfiguration was intended to strengthen the apostles for the ordeal of the cross.

We are transfigured into the image of Christ by our baptism. We don't see this image, but we must have faith that he is with us and in us. In his strength, we must carry our cross, confident of victory.

Dear Parishioners,

I think most of us, sometime in our lives, can relate to our Scripture readings for our Masses this weekend. Our first reading from Genesis is the story in which Abraham was put to the test by God. After years of trying, Abraham and Sarah were unable to have a child. Abraham remained ever faithful to God and accepted this outcome as a reality of life. Then God promised this elderly couple a child and so it happened. Can you imagine? A life long dream has come true. But now God asks the impossible of Abraham. This child of promise is now to be offered up as a sacrifice to God on the altar of God's choosing. Just when everything is in place, God intervenes through a messenger and says to Abraham, "Do not lay your hand on the boy. Do not do the least thing to him. I know now how devoted you are to God, since you did not withhold from me your own beloved son." After this exchange, Abraham offered a sacrifice only this time of a ram that seemingly was provided for him by God. Then because of his obedience and his willingness to sacrifice his own son, the love of his life, God blessed Abraham and said, "I will make your descendants countless as the stars of the sky and the sands of the seashore." Often times we find ourselves in the situation of Abraham. The very things that we love, that are important to us, for some reason are taken from us. We don't understand this reality nor do we fully accept it. Yes we deal with the loss but it shakes us at the core of our being. But the God who provided a sacrifice for Abraham is the same God who provides for all of us in times of trial and testing. May we, like Abraham, remain ever obedient knowing that this same God will bless all of us far beyond our imagining.

On behalf of our parish family, I want to welcome Fr. Denis Robinson, a Benedictine priest and current rector at St. Meinrad Seminary in St. Meinrad, Indiana. He will be preaching all the Masses this weekend as well as having two conferences on Sunday evening and Monday evening at 6:30 p.m. This presentation is what we would call our Lenten Parish Mission, or perhaps a Lenten mini-retreat. Please take advantage of this opportunity given to you as it will assist you in your own Lenten devotions. Since we have been highlighting the Eucharist throughout this past year, the theme of this mission will be Eucharist and how it might relate to our season of Lent. For parents of young children, we will provide child care services in the basement of the Church during the two conferences as well as a reception after the conference on Monday night. I also hear that Fr. Denis will be having a companion from St. Meinrad to join him and us, namely, Deacon Jayke White. So welcome Deacon Jayke as he nears his ordination date.

Because of the parish mission on Monday, February 26, there will be NO EVENING MASS AND NO CONFESSIONS on that day.

This Tuesday, February 27 through Thursday, February 29, we are sending a few parishioners to the McGread Conference on Stewardship in Wichita, Kansas. Fr. Zach will be joining these parishioners and we hope that they return to us with an enthusiasm to help us maintain St. Peter as a stewardship parish. I ask your prayers for them on this trip. Being stewards of God's gift is one of the greatest ways we can give our God thanks and praise for all these come from Him.

We have a team of dedicated volunteers for the Upon this Rock campaign who have been working behind the scenes and I would like to thank them as we embark on the fundraising phase of the campaign.

Our volunteers are tasked with visiting with as many parishioners as possible. WE WISH WE HAD ENOUGH VOLUNTEERS TO VISIT WITH EACH OF OUR 1,300-PLUS PARISH HOUSEHOLDS...but we don't have enough of a volunteer team. That said, please know our goal is to meet with as many parishioners, in person, as possible.

As you receive packets of information in the mail from the Upon this Rock campaign, we want to share what you should be receiving in the packet:

Every parishioner will receive:

1. An appeal letter from Fr. Leo with an INVITATION to support the campaign
2. A case statement or brochure that outlines the campaign projects and goals, and details how we all can support the campaign
3. A Frequently Asked Questions brochure, that was put together with the most common questions we have heard surrounding the campaign.

Some parishioners will receive the above PLUS:

- A pledge card
- A business return envelope for the pledge card

If you do NOT receive a pledge card in your packet, that means a campaign volunteer will be contacting you to discuss the campaign. Your volunteer has your pledge card and will provide the card when you meet.

If you receive a pledge card and wish to visit with a volunteer, please call the campaign office at 217/222-3155 and we will accommodate you as best as we can.

Thank you for your cooperation, your consideration and your support of St. Peter Catholic Church and School!
