Passion Sunday (Palm Sunday)

MARCH 24, 2024

(For Palm Procession:

Mark 11:1-10 or John 12: 12-16)

For Mass: Isaiah 50:4-7; Philippians 2:6-11;

Mark 14:1-15:47 or Mark 15: 1-39

The double title for today's celebration indicates the basic paradox of our faith: suffering and glory. It is the "Paschal Mystery" of death and resurrection. We enter glory only after apparent defeat.

At the beginning of Mass, we bless palms. Palms (which are not native to Jerusalem) were used on the most glorious and joyous of Jewish feasts to praise the Lord, the King. John's Gospel describes the people of Jerusalem acclaiming Jesus as Messiah and king with palm branches. They shouted, "hosanna," which means, "Save us now!" They wanted to be saved from oppression and from suffering under foreign rulers.

But Jesus was a different kind of Messiah. He saved them not from present ills but from eternal suffering and death. He enters his glory only through the cross.

The readings of Mass tell of the suffering and death of the Lord. The first reading is from the third of four Suffering Servant Songs in Isaiah. The suffering servant is a mysterious "everyman" kind of person who takes all grief and suffering to himself, and by his own suffering vicariously heals all. The primitive Church used these songs as a way of explaining how the Messiah could suffer (since he was supposed to be invincible.)

The second reading was an ancient hymn before Paul ever incorporated it into Philippians (around 58 A.D.) It tells how Christ did not hang on to his equality with the Father, but emptied himself to become one of us. Then he became humbler yet, accepting death on the cross. Therefore he was exalted in the resurrection!

As we listen to the Passion according to Mark, let us identify with the various characters of the story: Are we Peter who talks a good game but who denies the Lord when it really counted. Are we Judas? Are we Pilate, who piously claims innocence when he could have saved Jesus from death. Are we the leaders who preserved their position by getting rid of Jesus?

PALM SUNDAY

Holy Week is a special time of year. We have the opportunity to walk through the moment of crying out Hosanna to the Son of David and in the same moment we cry crucify him. We watch Judas plot and betray Jesus. We enter into the Last Supper washing of the feet and Crucifixion. We see the institution of the priesthood and the Eucharist. We sit in silence in the tomb as Jesus goes into death to save those righteous who came before to conquer death and offer life eternal. We bring new life to the Church in baptisms with confirmation and first communions. We sing the song of Praise to the risen Lord. What a week. I hope you take the time this week to join us for these stunning liturgies and moments in our lives.

I have been asked by so many about the veils over the statues. Please if you get a chance, listen to my podcast homily from last week. The short answer is: We veil those things that remind us of heaven, so that we can simplify our focus on the suffering, passion, crucifixion, and death of Christ. It helps us focus during this moment we call Passiontide.

There is a penance service at 2 p.m. this Palm Sunday at Blessed Sacrament. I pray you come and join us and prepare yourselves for Easter. Please pray for all those who are coming into the Church this Easter, including my Uncle Kirk Crivea. My uncle is being baptized and I am beyond excited about this. He is also my Godfather, really when one is unbaptized, they are just a witness, but with his baptism, he truly takes on the Godfather role in a new way! I am beyond excited! Pray for them all. May you all have a fruitful and blessed Holy Week!
