From the Pastor's desk....

For me, the unusual beautiful, warmer than normal autumn, has me thinking it is not as "late" in the year as it actually is! Here we are in the first weekend of November, and we have only had a few light frosts. However, time is moving on, and we begin the month of November remembering those who have left us and made their transition into eternity. We look at death head-on. We are a people of hope, as we are an Easter people. Jesus rose from the dead; and that is what we are all about. As much as we enjoy all the challenges and blessings that this life gives us, we are not meant for this time and place. Jesus says over and over "I have prepared a place for you".

This past Friday we gathered to remember all the saints—the heroes of our Catholic faith who give us courage and inspiration by how they lived their lives. Many were sinners before they became dignified and holy! This weekend we remember all who have died, and take their names with us as we move into the darkening month of November. Yes, November will move towards December; and our days will grow short and cold. So, now, the Church encourages us before Winter sets in, to pray for the dead, and if possible, visit the graves of our loved ones. May we always remember them, share the stories, and know one day we will all be united in the place Jesus says "I have prepared for you".

Peace.....Fr. Jeff
