A Message from Fr. Tom Donovan:

The Greek word for “steward” or “manager” in this week’s gospel is “oikonomos” from where we also get the word “economy” or “economist”. The subject of the parable certainly knows how to use the value of the things he manages in order to provide for himself as he sees the master preparing to dismiss him. Modern-day managers know all-too-well how important it is for an employee to empty out his or her desk and turn in their keys right away and to leave the property when being dismissed. But the master in this story is a permissive one... perhaps on purpose?

The “steward-economist” knows the value of all of the master’s property and he further knows the price of the debts for all the master’s debtors. He quickly schemes how he can make for a ‘soft landing’ for himself by ingratiating the master’s debtors to him! We clearly see the ethical shortcut and the devious game being played here as he cuts the debtors bills and rewrites them a discount. We question why Jesus would praise this criminal behavior. I would suggest we turn away from such a harsh judgment against the steward and consider that the master may have allowed this behavior as a gracious gesture to the steward. The master did not, after all, summarily dismiss the steward, but allowed him to ‘close the accounts’ as his agent in the last days.

Is this not unlike God’s posture towards us? Someday won’t we be turning our ‘accounting books’ to see how our stewardship of the goods we have been entrusted with measures up? While salvation is not found in good works, we certainly may be unprepared and unprovided for if we cling to the seduction of wealth and the worldly power it holds.

We have greatly endowed with worldly riches by God’s gracious bounty... our nourishment, our homes, our livelihoods, and perhaps even some sense of long-term financial security. If we do not know how to be good stewards in the wise use of these earthly goods, using them for trade and commerce and most importantly giving them away in charity for those in need, then how can we be ready to accept the even greater gift of the heavenly goods God wills to give us in his Kingdom? Do we know the worldly price of everything without understanding transcendent value? The steward knew how to extract the greatest value from these goods by sharing the master’s wealth with fellow debtors. Should we not do the same? This is yet another way that we learn to “live the Year of Jubilee from the Lord” by proclaiming good news to captives, forgiving debts, and restoring the dispossessed to their heritage. If we are unable to live this graciously with our fellow human beings, then perhaps we are not ready for the jubilee God sets before us?

CHRISTIAN
of ADULTS

In recent weeks we welcomed two new Catholics, Ben Thompson and Bonnie Hantzche, who became one with us in a profession of faith and reception of Confirmation and Eucharist. Congratulations to them and their families. They are the new growth in our community, reminding us all of the ongoing work of evangelization and conversion that belongs to the entire community, finding its climax in the celebration of the sacramental life of the Church.

It’s time to be thinking about forming new Catholics! The typical time to prepare candidates for the sacraments is in anticipation of the Easter Vigil. We hope to begin a cohort for the Order of Christian Initiation of Adults soon! An organizational meeting will take place Monday, October 6 at 6:00 p.m. at the parish hall. We would like to hear from possible candidates as well as those who might be willing be part of the formation team. For more information or to let us know you are coming, please call the parish office at (217) 222-5996.

A Message from Mrs. Carol Frericks—Principal

Holy Moments At Eucharistic Adoration

St. Dominic School held our first Eucharistic Adoration for the school year on Wednesday, September 10. Eucharistic Adoration will be provided approximately once per month to help us develop our time of prayer with Jesus as a habit for faith formation. This year, we will continue to learn about the Virtues of the Catholic Church, so we will be reminded that virtues are a habitual and firm disposition to do what is good. Living a virtuous life allows us to perform good acts, and to give the best of ourselves. This act of adoration deepens one's personal relationship with Jesus, allowing us to spend time in His presence, reflect on His love and sacrifice, and experience spiritual renewal. When our students and staff engage in adoration and prayer with Jesus, we experience Holy Moments. We are thankful to have these opportunities at St. Dominic School, where Holy Moments happen every day! Eucharist Adoration will be on Wednesdays following School Mass from 9:30-11:30 a.m. and 12:35-2:35 p.m. with Benediction at 2:35 p.m. Please join us at school for Eucharistic Adoration on October 15, November 12, January 7, February 11, and April 29.
