A Message from Fr. Tom Donovan:

This year we read from the Gospel of St. Matthew. Matthew is an interesting character, as he is associated with the figure who was a publican—a tax collector—one of the most reviled people of Jewish society. Tax collectors were considered traitors, cooperating with the occupying Roman forces in Israel. Secondly, the tax-collecting practices of the day always had a suspicion of corruption and favoritism, for taxes were less about formulas and forms, and more about what a taxpayer could pay, how easily the collector could extract that money from the people, and what ‘commission’ the collector might be able to keep for himself.

As a tax collector, Matthew would have been literate and probably keen in observing the interaction of people and politics. Understandably, Matthew’s gospel reveals a Jesus who deftly moves from one interaction to the next, expressing himself clearly and convincingly as a public figure, and managing to evade ‘traps’ set for him as a political figure.

As I mentioned last weekend, the Gospel of Matthew which we read on Sundays has three major movements. After the infancy narrative, we have Jesus coming on the scene with the Sermon on the Mount. Here he introduces his people to the strangeness of the Kingdom. It is not a Kingdom of this world. It is not a Kingdom ordered toward worldly power. It is a Kingdom where the last shall be first and the first shall be last. From there, we enter into a series of teachings, which we are working through in these recent weeks since the end of the Easter Season, which tell us about what Christian Discipleship is all about. Finally, we spend the last part of the summer and fall considering a series of Parables explaining what the Kingdom of Heaven is like. These three sections of the Gospel lead to the climax... the ‘showdown’, if you will... where Jesus takes on the religious authority of Jerusalem by embracing the cross. For those who can see it, Jesus is revealed as the long-expected Messiah. For the religious leadership, he is rejected as a criminal. His rejection cements the repudiation of “Old Israel” and ushers in an age of the “New Israel” which is the Church.

In the Gospel of Matthew, so many scenes present a dilemma—a debated point of law or morality. This is the classic ways rabbis, even to this day, teach the law and the prophets. We are invited us to take sides and to challenge our preconceptions about religion and faith and social conventions as Jesus shows us the right way to respond to the debate. For instance, Matthew watches intently at how Jesus interacts with the Romans: “Give unto Caesar that which is Caesar’s. Give to God, that which is God’s” (Matt 22:21). Jesus heals the centurion’s servant, turning then to the people to remark at the great faith in the centurion, even compared to the Jewish audience (Matt 8:5-13). Jesus proclaims love for enemies (Matt 5:44) and forbearance toward their commands (Matt 5:40, 41). In turn we also see Matthew’s concern over Jesus treatment of the religious elite of the temple and the messianic titles “Son of David”, and “Son of God”, and “Son of man”. Matthew also spends time interpreting the signs of the natural and supernatural order which point to Jesus as a special figure among the Jewish prophets and teachers.

Matthew’s readings are balanced for the first part of the summer with readings presented from Paul’s letter to the Romans. Paul is concerned with the divergence between God’s People gathered by the Law (the Jewish people) and God’s people gathered in witness to the savior (the “new law”, or “new covenant”). The law united God’s people throughout the Old Testament days, but Christ came to teach that the Law was but a starting point on the road to true wisdom and religious faith. It is not the Law or our punctilious observance of the Law that leads to salvation, but it is our relationship with the Lawgiver himself that perfects our encounter with God’s Law.

A Message from Mrs. Carol Frericks—Principal

Teachers Prepare for 2026-2027 School Year

On Monday, June 15, 2026, St. Dominic School teachers gathered to prepare for the 2026-2027 school year. Teachers wrote their plans together in grade level groups - preschool three and four-year-olds, grades kindergarten through second, grades third through fifth, and grades sixth through eighth - to align curriculum vertically for effective student learning. Teachers began their professional learning by reviewing the plans they wrote for the 2025-2026 school year and revising the plans as needed to provide more effective student learning experiences. Teachers began their curriculum mapping with the religion standards from our Diocese along with the new Sophia and Ruah Woods Theology of the Body curriculum materials so that our faith is integrated throughout the school day. When our teaching and learning experiences are Christ-centered, we can accomplish our mission. St. Dominic School is a dedicated Catholic school community promoting spiritual growth and academic excellence, while challenging students to use their talents to lead and serve. With His grace, our children will become who God created them to be.

Mass Intentions for 2027: On Monday, July 6 we will 'open our books' for Mass intentions in 2026. These 'intentions' are for the deceased who are often mentioned during Mass, "for whom this Mass is offered". It is customary make an offering of $10 for a Mass intention. While we do our best to accommodate date requests for specific intentions, we cannot guarantee or reserve particular dates. If there is a request for specific dates, we take them on a 'first-come first-served' basis. We do ask that when multiple intentions are being scheduled that they be divided somewhat evenly between weekend and weekday dates. Finally, we do ask that for major Holy Days (Christmas, Easter) that a particular intention or family only appear once every third year, in order to make these dates accessible to others who might want to choose that date. When we schedule an intention, it is with the understanding that our schedule can and does change on occasion, and when a date cannot be honored (because Mass is not being celebrated or it is being re-scheduled), we will do our best to accommodate other dates and choices... please be patient and cooperative with our parish staff when that need arises. Each Sunday and Holy Day a "Mass for the People", for all the living and deceased of the parish, is celebrated, which calls to mind all of the faithful in the parish. Further questions can be directed to the parish office (217) 222-5996.
