Twenty-seventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

OCTOBER 4, 2026

Isaiah 5:1-7; Philippians 4:6-9;
 Matthew 21:33-43

The context of today's Gospel is after Jesus' entry into Jerusalem in the last days of his life. People greeted him enthusiastically on Palm Sunday; but then they found out that he was going to be a humble Messiah – not the one they expected.

Jesus cleansed the Temple, overturning the tables of the buyers and sellers; thus he alienated them – and the high priest who controlled them. Last week, he told the parable of the two sons; obviously the elders and scribes realized that he was talking about them. Today he tells the parable of the vineyard. This is a variation on the vineyard parable in the first reading.

The vineyard is Israel. God had invested a lot in his people; he expected that they would bear good fruit. Instead, the vineyard produced "wild" grapes. (A better translation would be: "rotten, stinking grapes.")

There are several plays-on-words in the original language: "Judgment" is Mizpah in Hebrew; "Violence" is Mizpat. "Justice" is Zadiqqah; "Outcry" is Za'qqah. The variation of the parable in the Gospel makes it vivid: They killed the messengers and finally the Son who was heir.

The Gospel parable says that the kingdom of God will be taken from the Jews and given to a people who will yield a rich harvest. We might ask ourselves if we yield this rich harvest. Are we so zealous for the faith that we live it and try to share it with others? What will God say about our quietism and indifference to life issues? To evangelism? To missionary efforts? To promiscuity and violence?

In the second reading, we are told not to worry, to be a people of peace. Sad to say, some take this to mean that they can be indifferent. Let us pray that we shall show our faith in our public life.

27TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

The image of the vineyard is a powerful one in both Isaiah and the Gospel of Matthew. The Lord carefully plants His vineyard, prepares the soil, and gives it everything necessary to produce good fruit. Yet when harvest time comes, the vineyard produces wild grapes. Jesus uses this same image to speak about the people of God who have been entrusted with His vineyard. The Lord has given us so much: His Word, His Church, the Sacraments, one another, and the countless blessings of our daily lives. The question is not simply what we have received, but what kind of fruit our lives are producing in return. God does not ask us for perfection, but He does ask us for faithfulness.

The temptation is to think of the vineyard as belonging to us to believe that our time, our possessions, our abilities, and even our faith are ours to control. But the Gospel reminds us that everything ultimately belongs to the Lord. We are caretakers, not owners. Each of us has been entrusted with a portion of God's vineyard, and we are called to cultivate it with love so that it may bear good fruit: charity, forgiveness, generosity, patience, and faithfulness. As we hear these readings, perhaps we should ask ourselves a simple question: If the Lord came today looking for the fruit of His vineyard, what would He find in my life? May we allow Him to prune away whatever keeps us from bearing good fruit and make our lives a faithful offering to Him.

A couple of weeks ago we had QND students here for Mass for homecoming. They dressed up. Why don't we do this anymore? If you were able to eat a meal with your favorite politician or celebrity or maybe one of the Kings from Europe, you would put on your best clothes and dress up out of respect. Why don't we see that we eat with the greatest celebrity and King that is Jesus Christ? Why don't we give him our best? "But Father, shouldn't we just be glad they are here?" is always the argument. Of course we should, but once we are here the Lord calls us to more and so do our readings today.

When I was really young, I LOVED to wear my little red sport coat everywhere. Really, I called it my "port coat" because I couldn't say my S's very well. I loved dressing up for special occasions. So let us give the Lord our very best. Let us elevate the liturgy and wear our finest, as it was always called Our Sunday Best! Let us give our very best to God and raise our worship in our hearts with more effort in our attire.

Catechism quote: paragraph 3

Those who with God's help have welcomed Christ's call and freely responded to it are urged on by love of Christ to proclaim the Good News everywhere in the world. This treasure, received from the apostles, has been faithfully guarded by their successors. All Christ's faithful are called to hand it on from generation to generation, by professing the faith, by living it in fraternal sharing, and by celebrating it in liturgy and prayer.
